IKE HITS BACK AT DEMS IN KENTUCKY AND OHIO TALKS: NEW CHALLENGE FROM ADLAI

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH

Washington (AP)—President Eisenhower's campaign foray into Kentucky and Ohio pointed up how he now is firing back at Adlai Stevenson despite a September assertion he would leave the replies to other Republicans.

In a nation wide television-radio address last night at Lexington, Ky., and in a speech during the day at Cleveland, Ohio, Eisenhower replied to his Democratic opponent on a good many points although he never once mentioned Stevenson by name.

The closest Eisenhower came to naming Stevenson was to allude to the Democratic nominee as an "apparently confused candidate" on the issue of federal aid for education. That reference brought one of the biggest rounds of applause from the capacity crowd in the 15,000-seat University of Kentucky Coliseum.

All told, the crowd applauded 42 times during the President's talk. He also got a rousing ovation when he concluded.

He prefaced his jabs by saying "political oratory . . . at its most reckless has plunged to the wild extremes of charging this administration with such fabulous failings as not guarding the peace—and not caring for the welfare of any humble citizen or any needy family in our land."

Then he added: "We all know that there are people who suffer from living in a world of words and phrases for so long that they can no longer recognize action when they see it."

The applause and laughter that thrust touched off still was echoing when Eisenhower got another round after saying:

"And—when it comes to a really critical matter like political leadership—we recall a fact that all of us have seen in our own daily lives: The longest lectures almost always come from those with the least experience."

In addition to hitting the Democratic lawmakers on federal aid for education, which he said they killed in the House, the President contended the opposition party stood in the way of action on:

1. Financial and technical aid to areas suffering chronic local unemployment.
2. Extension of the minimum wage law to more persons.
3. Grants to states to expand and strengthen occupational safety programs.

Charge Detectives Stole Evidence in Numbers Inquiry

Pittsburgh (AP)—Two former Allegheny County detectives are accused by Dist. Attorney Edward C. Boyle of stealing evidence in a numbers case from the detective bureau and then selling it for $500.

Informations charging the former detectives and two other men with conspiracy to obstruct public justice were sworn out yesterday by Boyle.

The former detectives, Charles G. O'Brien and Thomas R. Foley, also were charged with accepting a bribe. William Gazal and Anthony Martorella were also accused of offering a bribe.

Boyle said the charges and informations resulted from a confession by O'Brien who has been in custody since Saturday. Gazal and Martorella were brought in later by county detectives.

With the Candidates

CLARK

Coudersport (AP)—Joseph S. Clark today pushed along his Democratic campaign for the U. S. Senate on the note that war is not an issue of the election.

"War is not an issue of this election," Clark told a campaign rally in Coudersport last night.

"Everybody is for peace." Clark took the occasion to criticize the Republicans who he said use "ill grace" in talking about peace when "their Secretary of State John Foster Dulles has openly boasted that he has taken us to the brink of war three times in the past 12 months."

By ERNEST B. VACCARO

Teaneck, N. J. (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson challenged President Eisenhower today to "take the leadership" in a move to ban hydrogen bomb tests and suggested Russia is willing to go along.

Renewing his campaign call for an end to testing of large-scale nuclear weapons, the Democratic presidential nominee declared:

"The renunciation of such tests is a step which I think the great powers are now willing to take—if there is leadership in this direction. It is a step that can be safely taken, for no one can explode a hydrogen bomb in secret, and each would know whether the others were acting in good faith. It would be a step along a new path toward peace."

Since only the United States, Britain and Russia are known to possess nuclear weapons, Stevenson obviously included Russia when he said he thinks "the great powers" are willing to suspend H-bomb tests.

Stevenson's assertion that a hydrogen bomb cannot be exploded "in secret" apparently was a reply to Eisenhower's Sept. 19 dismissal of his proposals as a one-sided "theatrical national gesture" in the absence of enforceable international agreements.

Stevenson, who accused the Eisenhower administration last night of failing to provide leadership in the field of education, renewed his proposal for suspension of big-scale nuclear tests in a speech prepared for an audience at the Fairleigh Dickinson University campus here.

It was one of eight talks Stevenson scheduled in 3 day of stump-ing New Jersey after a flight from Washington. Included were an afternoon speech at Newark and a rally tonight at Jersey City.

Truman Gives Gotham Reporters an Interview

New York (AP)—Former President Truman said today President Eisenhower has stepped up his campaign because he is "scared" about the outcome of the election.

The Democrat, taking his morning stroll, commented:

"He's scared. We've got them (the Republicans) all scared. They're scared of everything."

To a report that betting odds are 3 to 1 that Eisenhower will win, Truman said:

"I'll bet you a nickel you couldn't get a bet at those odds." Truman said the Republicans had found that a candidate could not be elected if he restricted his campaign to television and radio appearances.

Young Radio Announcer Dies Following Stroke

Pittsburgh (AP)—Otto Krenn, 34-year-old free lance radio and television announcer and performer, died suddenly in his Penn Twp. home last night shortly after suffering a stroke.

Krenn, a University of Pittsburgh graduate, handled many commercials on radio station KQV and television station KDKA-TV, both in Pittsburgh. He also taught speech in Pitt's evening school for five years.

An all-night radio show on WWSW started Krenn's career in 1943. He also performed on the Children's Book Shelf, a program on station WCAE.

A few of the places and people selling tickets are the Style Shop, Logan's Men's Wear, Elks, Blue & White, United Cigar Store, Kermit Forsgren, Meyer Kornreich, Creed Erickson, Ray Reed and many more.

Variety of Routine Matters Discussed By School Board

In addition to a variety of routine items given attention at the September meeting of Warren Borough School Board, at the high school last evening, members discussed revised estimates on insurance values of buildings within the school district and took necessary action, subject to approval by the Area Joint Board.

This action will place an additional $85,000 on the seven elementary buildings in the borough, bringing the total to $1,614,000, with 90% coverage.

Other financial matters included approval of bills presented by the finance committee in the amount of $32,636.76, of which $30,219.37 is due the Area Board for operation of the high school and Beaty junior high.

Monthly orders amounting to $849.54 were given approval; also substitute teacher salaries in the sum of $380, and janitors' overtime, $76.20.

Acknowledgment was made of $84.20 insurance payment for damage incurred when the Jefferson building was struck by lightning during a heavy storm earlier in the summer.

Members approved 18 psychological tests to be given by Eugene Cease, of Warren State Hospital staff, as needed during the term; heard quarterly financial reports on the activities accounts.

Thomas Barratt and Paul Myers, of Beaty faculty, were granted permission to visit the Toms River, N. J. School in February for study of an outstanding program in civic education.

This visit is in conjunction with the special Dr. Elizabeth Beaty Project, as will be the visit of Mary Jane Wyland, professor emerita of Pennsylvania State University, who will be here as consultant on October 24. Following her conference with the special groups, she will meet with the committee of about 18 members in the evening.

Also acknowledged by the board.

Trespasser Crushed to Death in B. & O. Wreck

Hancock, Md. (AP)—Seventeen cars of a Baltimore and Ohio freight train left the rails near this Western Maryland town last night bringing death to a man bumbling a ride in a car loaded with steel.

West Virginia state police said papers found on the body indicated the dead man was 28-year-old Roy Eugene Ames of Eureka Springs, Ark.

Ames was crushed to death when the steel shifted, police said. The railroad said he was an unauthorized rider.

MINE WORKERS MEETING

Cincinnati (AP)—The United Mine Workers of America open their 42nd constitutional convention here today amid reports that a contract with bituminous coal operators has been agreed upon. The meeting appears destined to be a peaceful one and no signs of strong internal disputes have cropped up in pre-convention planning. John L. Lewis, longtime UMW president, declined to comment yesterday on the possibility of a contract already being agreed upon with the Bituminous Coal Operators Association.

Resident of Enterprise Section Says Defendant Is Same Person Observed Near Robbery Scene

Two prosecution witnesses who stated under oath that they positively identified Joseph Swartz as being in the vicinity of Tidoute the date before and the day of the bank robbery August 18, 1955 bolstered the Commonwealth's case in Warren County Courthouse this morning.

Defense Attorney Benjamin Marks of Mercer County, a flamboyant courtroom performer, intimated two or three damaging admissions from Tidoute bank manager R. Krug Cyphert as the case opened rapidly yesterday afternoon following selection of the jury and two alternates.

But this morning, a demure young housewife and an assured oil company driver pointed out the suspect as he sat with his three defense attorneys and swore he was the same person they had seen near and in Tidoute the day before and the day of the robbery.

Mrs. Violet Messerall, 24, of RD 2, Titusville, wearing a loose red coat and sitting in the witness chair with hands folded neatly in her lap, was asked by District Attorney Myer Kornreich if the person she had seen give her by her house the day before the holdup was now sitting at the end of the counsel table. As Mrs. Messerall answered, "Yes, he is," her baby in the back of the courtroom let out a loud wail.

The other unshakable witness for the prosecution was George W. Atkins, 58, of Tidoute, a driver for Wolf's Head Refining Company. Atkins testified that he had noticed Swartz the day before the August 18, 1955 stickup when the accused drove by twice on a normally quiet road near a company bulk plant. He further stated that about noon the day of the robbery he had seen Swartz sitting behind the wheel of his car in a parking lot and looking at the Tidoute Branch of the Warren National Bank.

When Marks asked Atkins about his identification of Swartz, Atkins looked at the distinctive face of the accused and said "I think they could identify that face if they saw it anywhere six months from now."

The 12 jurors and two alternates were chosen in an hour and 13 minutes yesterday as the trial moved ahead at a rapid pace. The eight men and four women in the jury are: Wallace Long of Youngsville, Natella English of Kinzua, Alfred Mulhaupt, Arthur S. Hill of Columbus, Dorothea Taylor, John W. Sleeman, Mae Huber, Dorothy McAllister, Charles Anderson of Sugar Grove, Robert Dunn of Weldbank, Carl Crosby of Bear Lake and Maxwell Arnold.

Two alternates are Mrs. Pearl Snow of Bear Lake and Mrs. Edith Hultberg of Chanders Valley.

First witness this morning was Harry Halstead of RD 1, Titusville. Halstead stated his car, with keys in the ignition, had been stolen from a Titusville street where he went to work. He found it gone at 4:55 p. m. and after checking, he testified, with the finance company and relatives who might have borrowed it, he called police.

Attorney Marks in cross-examination substantiated that the car had the oil changed the day before and a mileage check showed it had been driven about 60 miles. The machine was found abandoned the next day where another witness this morning said he had seen a green Plymouth parked the day before the holdup.

William G. Updegrave, a Pennsylvania Highway Department engineer, was then called to the stand to point out on a map just where the points under discussion were located. Updegrave called his mileage figures from place to place "approximate," and stated the roads were "winding, not flat by any means."

Mrs. Messerall, demure with downcast eyes and hair swept back in a pony tail, answered in a low even tone the questions hurled at her by Marks. She stated she was in her front yard at 3:15 p. m. the day before the robbery (August 17) and had seen a car answering the description of the stolen vehicle pass in front of her with a man at the wheel.

Under questioning, Mrs. Messerall described the driver as having a "very fair complexion, you don't see many like it." (The accused has a "baby face"). Mrs. Messerall also told of noticing the redness of the complexion and the defendant also has that characteristic.

In an attempt to pin the witness down on the complexion, Marks asked if Mrs. Messerall had seen "Bus Stop" and if the man she saw had a white complexion like that seen in the movie.

"I don't go see Marilyn Monroe pictures," replied the witness.

Candidates For Vice President Have Busy Day

By The Associated Press

Both vice presidential candidates were chasing votes on the local level today. Vice President Nixon scheduled appearances in Hartford, Conn.; Manchester, N. H., and Syracuse, N. Y. Sen. Estes Kefauver was booked for Roswell, Santa Fe, Los Alamos and Albuquerque, N. M.

In Waco, Tex., last night, Kefauver said President Eisenhower "is too busy trying to win an election with sunshine and smiles to do anything effective to help small farmers and ranchers hard-pressed by drought."

The Tennessee senator centered much of his attack on Eisenhower, but took several jabs at Secretary of Agriculture Benson.

In Milwaukee last night, Nixon repeated his denial that he ever called Adlai Stevenson or former President Truman "traitors" in the actual meaning of the word.

Truman appeared on the same program recently and charged that Nixon called him a traitor during a 1954 campaign speech in Texas.

Nixon said he used the word to refer to a "departure from Democratic principles," and not to imply a "lack of loyalty."

At an earlier press conference, Nixon said the Democratic candidates "apparently have decided they have no legitimate issues upon which to campaign. So far, they have been destroying what issues they have."

Other developments: Truman, in a series of speeches in New York, called Republicans "bunglers" in the fields of foreign policy, small business and agriculture.

It concerns the future of 10 orphaned children, and the accident that killed their parents.

The children, five each in the Smith and Bowman families, were left orphans Sunday morning when their parents, returning home in one car from town where they had a midnight snack, crashed into a tree.

It was about 1:30 a. m. Sunday when it happened. Mr. and Mrs. William R. Smith and Mr. and Mrs. Wiley Bowman were heading home. Within two blocks of their homes the car driven by Smith failed to make a curve, sideswiped two trees and slammed headon into a third tree.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith, aged 39 and 32, and Mrs. Bowman, 41, died 24 hours later.

The Bowman children are: Tommy, 3; Jerry, 6; Jimmy, 8; Janice Ann, 10; and Arthur, 13.

The Smith children are Paul J., 5; Jimmy Allen, 8; Steve Neal, 9; Ruth Diane, 12; and Richard Ray,

SEC. DULLES FAVORS WEST EUROPE PACT

Washington (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles said today the nations of Western Europe should become a third great power in world affairs. He called it unthinkable that they should be neutral toward Soviet communism.

At a newsconference, Dulles strongly endorsed efforts by West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and others to convert the Western European Union into a stronger unifying force.

He said both President Eisenhower and he favor this and do not consider it to be a slap at the United States.

Under questioning as to whether Europe should become a "third force" as between Russia and the United States, Dulles said he thought it appropriate that Europe should develop into a third great power and he believed it is within the capacity of the European nations.

Unless they so develop, he added, their future looks very dubious indeed. He said it was unthinkable that Christian countries should be neutral toward materialistic and atheistic Soviet communism.

Dulles made these major points on other matters:

1. Talks between Yugoslav President Tito and Soviet leaders presumably involve very serious questions of relations between Russia and Red satellite countries. Dulles said he believes Tito favors independence of the satellites from Soviet domination—which means Dulles thinks Tito is seeking an objective favored by the United States.

2. There are differences between the United States and Britain-France over what Dulles called fundamental issues in the Suez Canal crisis. In sum, he asserted that the United States would not identify itself 100 percent with colonial powers because it seeks friendly relations with anticolonial countries.

3. On a current political issue, Dulles defended the U. S. dealings with Argentine Dictator Juan Peron.

Mild Weather Is Prevailing in Most Sections of Nation

By The Associated Press

It was a little chilly in the Northeast and sections of the West but fairly mild weather prevailed in most other parts of the country today.

Temperatures in Illinois early this morning were in the same range as those in Texas as warm southerly air spread over the Great Lakes region, Ohio Valley and the mid-Mississippi Valley.

Readings were as much as 30 degrees higher than 24 hours earlier when below freezing was reported in northern Michigan.

Readings were in the 40s in the northern Plains and New England. Scattered showers fell in the Rockies but generally fair weather prevailed from the West Coast to the line roughly from Detroit to El Paso, Tex. Eastward to the Appalachians showers and considerable cloudiness were in prospect.

Boro Form of Government For North Warren Is Crystallizing

Agitation for the establishment of a borough form of government in North Warren may crystallize into definite action in 1957.

Further steps in the compilation of data on the mechanics involved in creation of a borough were authorized by the North Warren Civic Club at a meeting at the Community Center there Monday evening. It is hoped to have all the information available for presentation to property owners and residents of the area at an early date.

The Civic Club is acting as a clearing house in the collection of data on the project, which has been hanging fire for the past few years. Strong sentiment has developed for establishment of a borough form of government as the most practical approach to solution of the "growing pains" of a community such as North Warren which has enjoyed probably the greatest growth of any of the surrounding areas in the past five to ten years.

Don Schuler is heading the committee which has been engaged in a study of the borough project. Attorney W. Scott Calderwood, of Warren, was present at last night's meeting and discussed the status of the Municipal Water Authority so far as its part in any such change in government might be concerned. Additional data is being gathered on this phase of the problem while Attorney Calderwood was asked to prepare a calendar of the legal steps which will be necessary in setting up a borough.

Officers of the Civic Club hope that the new data may be available.

Boro Form

able in the early future when a public meeting will be called to present the information to all residents of the North Warren area who would be affected if such a change was attempted. Present plans call for the confinement of the proposed borough boundaries to the area served by the Authority, although nothing definite has been done on this or other phases of the project, which is entirely in an exploratory stage.

Chairman Schuler and his Borough Fact-Finding Committee have spent considerable time on the matter and now hope to wrap all the information in one package for early presentation to the property owners for comprehensive discussion and possible action.

Members of the Civic Club also heard a report on the recent purchase by the North Warren Volunteer Fire Department of an ambulance to give the Conewango Township area service which terminated with the recent abandonment of ambulance operation by Warren morticians Robert D. Mahan, of the Fire Company, outlined to the club the plans of the firemen for rendering service to the residents of the area. Ways of financing the project were discussed by Mr. Mahan, who also informed the club of the firemen's plan of operation and the great need for volunteers to augment the regular force that adequate service might be extended. The North Warren Firemen purchased the ambulance of the Templeton Funeral Home and are setting up a system of ambulance service which will insure this area prompt and efficient response to calls for such assistance.

A report also was made to the Civic Club on the North Warren school project, which was recently approved by the State Department. The report was given by Donald Dalrymple, who advised the club that the building project is now under close study following recent opening of bids for the proposed structure. The proposals exceeded estimates on the construction and will involve some revision of plans by the authorities.

Financial reports on the club's operation showed the organization to be in a stronger position and officers solicit the continued support of residents of the area in benefit projects that adequate funds may be available for carrying out a worthwhile program of community betterment.

Wendell Lawson, president, reported that nomination of officers will take place at the November meeting, while "Ladies Night" will be observed in December, when a special program is planned. President Lawson named a committee composed of Chris Pepke and R. F. Ward, co-chairmen, Maynard Quackenbush, Robert Benson and Donald Dalrymple to advance plans for the December dinner gathering. Edward Amann handled the secretarial duties at Monday evening's meeting, which concluded with the serving of pumpkin pie and coffee by a committee including Fred DeVore and Elvis Sanden.

Busso Runs His String Of Victories To Seven

New York (AP)—New York's East Side, long the spawning grounds for outstanding lightweights, may have another contender before long in young Johnny Busso.

An aggressive fighter and a crisp puncher with either hand, the 22-year-old Busso ran his latest victory streak to seven last night with a split decision over Cleveland's Tommy Salem in a television 10-rounder at St. Nicholas Arena.

Unbeaten in 17 months, the curly-haired New Yorker, a recent bridegroom now has an imposing 28-3-1 record. He says he is ready to take on the ranking fighters and he looked it in edging Salem, an able 23-year-old who looks like a fine prospect, too. Salem's record is 22-7-1.

Reports Indicate Sell-Out House For JC's Music Series

Tonight and tomorrow will be the last opportunity for area residents to join the current season of the Jaycee Music Series. ## Reminder for Securing North Warren Ambulance

Bob Mahan, chairman of the ambulance committee for the North Warren Fire Department, reminded today that the firemen are definitely accepting calls for service in Warren and surrounding territory. The North Warren ambulance may be secured by calling the Warren General Hospital, 3390. The switchboard operator will relay the message to the person designated to provide the service.

At the same time Mr. Mahan issued an appeal for volunteer registered nurses to offer services on emergency calls. Persons interested may contact Mr. Mahan by phoning 1731, in the evening, or drop a card to Robert D. Mahan, North Warren.

No calls for the ambulance had been received up until noon today.

BOY SHOT IN CHEST

Titusville Herald: A gay wedding ended on a sad note for a Townville area family on Sunday afternoon. Mr. and Mrs. Earl F. Saeger of Townville, RD 1, (Little Cooley road) returned home from their daughter's wedding to find their son, Gerald, 13, had been shot in the chest accidentally. A playmate was holding a .22 rifle used for target shooting when it went off. The bullet grazed the boy's left wrist, slanted up through his chest and lodged in his right shoulder. Gerald's condition last night in Meadowville City Hospital was "not so good," his mother said. His right lung was collapsed. He had been slightly improved yesterday morning. However, Mrs. Saeger said, doctors told her that Gerald had passed the critical phase unless complications developed. No immediate operation is planned to remove the bullet, as it is quite close to the surface and can be taken out when the boy is stronger.

Warren Hound Nabs Dual Wins In Two Weekend Trials

Ben Time, a five-year-old hound out of the kennel of Lake Erie Beagle Club, owned by Nick and Dave Marinoble of Warren, went well over the necessary points acquired in two field trials over the weekend, to gain his field championship.

Jamestown breeder Jack Samuelson handled the hound to a first place in the 15-inch male competition in the Broome County Beagle Club's trials held Sunday at Binghamton. Landy's Rusty, owned by Klaus Lindberg of Bemus Point and also handled by Samuelson, took reserve hound honors.

On Monday, Marnoble took a group of local hounds to the Frontier Beagle Club of Buffalo, and swept all three of the top 15-inch male positions. Ben Time finished first and insured his field championship. Moon Brook Clipper and Moon Brook Smokey, a pair of hounds owned by Buzzy Carlson of Jamestown, finished in the second and third spots.

Ben Time was sired by Field Champion Jamber Ben, out of Wrenn Chocolate and was purchased by Marnoble from Jamestown. George Ritzler's kennels.

HOSPITAL AUXILIARY

(Editor's Note: In conjunction with the annual meeting and tea on Friday of this week, a very interesting series of articles has been prepared to inform Times-Mirror readers concerning the purposes and activities of the Women's Auxiliary of Warren General Hospital. The first, today, tells of the formation of the group.)

every two weeks to sew for the hospital. At this time it met in a class room of the Hospital. Mrs. Winger left Warren in 1933, and Mrs. Heasley aided by Mrs. James L. Chapman carried on until Mrs. Heasley left Warren in 1936. Mrs. Chapman and Mrs. Chester Allen headed this group until 1938.

In 1938 an organization meeting was held, and a Constitution and By-laws were drawn up and adopted. The name was "Woman's Auxiliary of the Warren General Hospital". Its object was to aid the Board of Managers of the Hospital and to stimulate interest among the people of the Borough and County in the activities of the Hospital. Dues were originally $1.00 per year and this was increased to $2.00 in 1941.

Since 1938 sewing meetings have been held on the first and third Friday of each month with the exception of June, July and August (unless special sewing necessitated a summer meeting).

As the only income of the Auxiliary was from membership dues, funds were raised by sponsoring Charity Balls, bake sales, band concerts, series of games and card parties. From these funds the following equipment was purchased for the hospital's use: microscope for hospital laboratory, lamps and trays for wards, linoleum, curtains, screens etc. for Children's Ward, 12 chairs for Auxiliary room, sterilizer for maternity ward, bed pan washer, 10 mattresses for nurses' home, 9 bedside tables, 1 surgical cart, 24 chairs for general use.

It also equipped and furnished semi-private room, steam table and 3 tray conveyors, 3 sewing machines, refurnished semi-private room in Maternity Hospital, vases, oxygen-unit, bought material and made drapes for children's ward, semi-private rooms and wards, individual metal coffee pots, 16 basement mattresses, 10 chairs for Maternity ward, redecorated auxiliary room, blankets and pillows for auxiliary room, subscribed to magazines for hospital, book cart. All the above was for the old hospital.

In 1942 an appeal was made for volunteers for Nurse's Air Corps and in 1946 an Auxiliary committee set up the supervision of visiting hours in wards and semi-private rooms. This service is now handled by Nurses' Aides.

(Continuing tomorrow, the Auxiliary story will go on from the hospital's remodeling program to the present).

Family Night at The YMCA Proves Popular Project

Latest of the popular Family Night series was held Saturday evening at the YMCA, with a peak record attendance of over 87 fathers, sons, mothers, and daughters present. Following the swim in which nearly 50 participated, the group journeyed upstairs for the "senses census", the feature program of the evening, which was a series of contests testing one's perceptive ability, which were prepared by Mrs. James Ruhlman, Mrs. Danielson, Mrs. McClain and Mrs. Tansky.

The group also enjoyed games, concluding with refreshments served by Mrs. Johnson, Mrs. Danielson, Mrs. Jordan, Mrs. Geiger, Mrs. McClain, Mrs. Ruhlman, Mrs. Douglas, Mrs. Olson and others. A special new feature this month was addition of a nursery for the small fry, with many articles for their amusement. This proved to be a very popular addition and is expected to become a permanent program service. The nursery was capably handled by Mrs. Wade Barre and Mrs. Mildred Buehler.

The committee extends its thanks to the many who cooperated so generously to make this affair such a success. Special thanks are due to Bill Cornwall, Clyde Baker and Pat Madden for providing life guard service; and to Mr. and Mrs. Ken Peterson for providing transportation for several children. The next Family Night will be October 27.

Those attending included: Mr. and Mrs. Wade Barre, Gregg, Dana and Kathy; Mr. and Mrs. Edward Buehler, Eddie and Marilyn; Bertha and Chuckie Douglas; Mr. and Mrs. Alex Fino, Tim and Jeff; Mr. and Mrs. Dennis DiPietro, Annette, Joseph and Johnny; Mr. and Mrs. Roy Baker, Virginia, Barbara, Bill and Dean; Jean Kannen; Mrs. Glenn Robinault, Murray, Darrell and Jennifer; Mr. and Mrs. F. CATASTROPHIC ACCIDENTS

Catastrophic accidents—defined as those in which five or more persons are killed—claimed about 20,000 lives in the continental United States during the 15 years from 1941 through 1955, the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company's statisticians report.

The death toll fluctuated from year to year, ranging from a low of about 825 in 1941 to nearly 2,000 in 1947. Tabulations for the first six months of 1956 show that catastrophes took about 700 lives, which is approximately an average half-year figure, the statisticians note.

Breakdown of the 15-year toll as to the type of catastrophe shows conflagrations to have been most costly as to loss of life. These fires occurred in private dwellings, hotels, boarding and rooming houses, institutions of various kinds, and other places, and the number of such fatalities totaled 5,124.

Ranking next in number of fatalities were such natural disasters as tornadoes, hurricanes, and floods, which resulted in 3,941 deaths. Motor vehicle catastrophes were responsible for 3,717 deaths.

The greatest single disaster during the 15 years was the explosion and fire at Texas City, Texas, on April 16 and 17, 1947, in which about 560 lost their lives.

BRIGHT BLUE WEATHER

Says The Bradford Era:

Even to those quite unfamiliar with the wondrous words of the poets, the thought of October is likely to bring up the poetic tribute to "October's bright blue weather."

To the pessimist, October is the colorful gateway to drab and melancholy whiteness of winter. To the nature lover, October is instead a riot of colors painted in delicate nuances beyond the brush and stroke of human artists.

It is a melange of reds and russets and browns in a thousand tones, mixed delicately with yellows and oranges and traces of green. But, above all—literally October is the warm, rich blue of the open sky.

This October—when skies are clear and the sun smiles on the land—look to the skies for the most gorgeous blue tones in all the world. What month in the year is more colorful than October?

And what blue is more true blue than "October's bright blue weather?"

NEWSPAPERS GAIN IN ADVERTISING

According to an Associated Press dispatch from New York national advertising lineage in newspapers in the first eight months of this year climbed 5.6 per cent over the same period of 1955 to establish a record high.

The Bureau of Advertising, American Newspaper Publishers Association, and Media Records Inc., reports that lineage totals in 52 index cities showed an eight-month rise of 10.4 per cent for general advertising, all national lineage other than automotive. There was a decrease of 3.8 per cent for automotive from its record lineage in the year ago period.

All other classifications showed gains for the eight months.

WARREN HAS AMBULANCE SERVICE

Something to paste in your hat: If you reside in the borough or adjacent area and desire emergency ambulance service call the Warren General Hospital, 3390. The Hospital switchboard operator will relay the message to a designated official connected with the North Warren Volunteer Fire Department, which will result in immediate dispatch of an ambulance from the Fire Hall at North Warren.

The Youngsville Department is also sponsoring an ambulance service, and Russell Firemen are in the process of completing plans to have one in operation within a few days.

North Warren officials emphasized again today that their ambulance project is for the community of Warren and all calls will be handled with the same speed and caution that has characterized the efficient service given by undertakers in past years.

THOUGHTS FOR TODAY

NEA Service, Inc.

Here and There

Harry G. Garvin, chairman of the Save Route 6 Committee, has not given up his efforts to secure an appointment with Governor George Leader to present the group's petition in the interests of the 17 northern tier counties of Pennsylvania. In a letter addressed to the state executive under date of September 25 Garvin enclosed a clipping from the Warren Times-Mirror of September 21, which he said "expresses the sentiments of all but a few people along Route 6." Says Garvin in the letter to Leader: "The Save Route 6 Committee are unanimously in accord in rejecting the proposition of your secretary, Mr. Randall, to cancel out request and to appear at Wellsboro on October 26th at a meeting of the Roosevelt Highway Association at which time, your secretary of highways, Mr. Lawler will speak to the group. We consider this too long a delay after our original request for an appointment with you and Secretary Lawler. Our committee believe, represents the vast majority of the residents and business people along the northern tier counties of Pennsylvania. We believe, also, that it was the original intention of the U S Bureau of Public Roads to include Route 6 as such in the Interstate System. Your secretary and others have been stalling across the western and eastern end of Route 6 in visitations upon certain newspapers and people that the majority favored an ordinary 50-50 Federal road for Route 6. As stated in our telegram, we ask you again now for a conference in Harrisburg with the privilege of bringing as many people as we want and who have expressed the desire to accompany us on our caravan to Harrisburg to present our big petition to you in person."

And that reminds us about another letter received from a former resident on a subject of equal importance. From Miss Allan C. Koch, Ridge Road, Orwigsburg, Pa., under date of September 25, the letter makes this comment about the ambulance situation in Warren, "I have been reading in the Times-Mirror of the trouble Warren has been having with their ambulance situation. All of the communities down here have their own ambulances, sponsored by Fire Companies or local Lions or Fraternal Clubs. Ours happens to be sponsored by the V. F. W. as enclosed letter will show. The ambulance is driven by local citizens who are on call voluntarily. Our population is only 2,000. It seems to me Warren's clubs and fraternal organizations could get together as a community project and sponsor an ambulance service. We are very proud of ours and I know Warren would be too. We give card parties, carnivals and everyone contributes this way. We get a new one every eight years—Beatrice Mellor Koch." The letter inclosed is one sent by the VFW Community Ambulance, Inc., Orwigsburg, Pa., and says among other things: "Because we are endeavoring to give the community and rural districts the best possible service available, we have purchased a new ambulance, oxygen equipped, with all other modern equipment. The board of directors feels that the public is entitled to know the cost of the new ambulance, because it is through your contributions that the purchase of this new ambulance was possible. The cost of your new ambulance is $10,873.75, which we are proud to say, is paid in full. This has depleted our operating expense to $103.29. We carry adequate insurance for your protection as well as the regular vehicle insurance, and even with a new ambulance we still incur minor operating expenses. On this our annual drive we are appealing to you the public, to support this drive wholeheartedly and hope you will contribute to the best of your ability. This service is available day and night. — Simon M. Elias, president, V. F. W. Community Ambulance, Inc."

Poll Points to Undecided Voter As Key Election Factor

NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—In view of all the discussion about whether Vice President Richard M. Nixon is qualified to succeed to the presidency, there's one other question being discussed around Washington. It sums up, in an ever-simplified sense, what this 1956 election campaign is all about. The question: Whom would you rather have as president in 1961—Nixon, or Sen. Estes Kefauver?

A RECENT ROYER POLL has given political posters something to exercise their pencils on. It shows 79 per cent of those who voted for Eisenhower-Nixon in 1952 will vote for them again this year, while 13 per cent of the 1952 GOP vote will go Democratic.

The poll also shows that 31 per cent of those who voted for Stevenson-Sparkman in 1952 will vote for Stevenson-Kefauver this year, while 9 per cent will go Republican.

On that basis, here's a rough estimate of what the 1956 popular vote will be:

Total popular vote, Eisenhower-Nixon. 29,300,000. Estimated vote loss: 4,600,000.

Total popular vote, Stevenson-Kefauver. 26,500,000. Estimated vote loss: 800,000.

These calculations do not take into consideration what 1952 stay-at-homes will do this year nor those who won't vote this year. Undecided voters may be the key factor in the election.

HARRY TRUMAN'S introduction of Gov. Adlai Stevenson at Kansas City may have given the appearance that the big breach between the two, created by Truman at Chicago, is now closed and forgotten. Actually, that isn't true.

personal actions toward him—before Chicago, at Chicago and since.

SECY. OF LABOR James P. Mitchell doesn't think much of the suggestion by Clothing Workers' President Jacob Potofsky that Mitchell be kept in his present job after Adlai Stevenson's election to the presidency.

"By the time the Democrats elect their next president," says Mitchell, "I'll be too old to be Secretary of Labor."

THE COMMON impression of the Democratic standard bearer this year is that Gov. Adlai Stevenson is the sophisticated city type who appeals to the Ivy League intellectuals, while Estes Kefauver is a big rube who gets along with country folk.

Staff members working with the two candidates say this characterization isn't accurate. Stevenson went to Princeton for a time, but then went back to Northwestern for his degrees. Kefauver, a Yale Law School graduate, is more entitled to the Ivy League label. Also, Kefauver lives in the city and is in every sense an urbanite, or at least a suburbanite.

Stevenson, on the other hand, lives on his farm at Libertyville, Ill., and is never happier than when he's there. He likes to put on old clothes and do as much of his work there as he can—including office work.

The two candidates are really so different, personally, that they complement each other. Kefauver is deliberate and quiet. In a sense he plays straight man to Adlai, who's always bubbling over with enthusiasm.

But the Democratic managers now regard them as a team—the best the convention could have selected—and they're stronger together than either candidate is separately.

Mama and Papa Had Better Hold Onto the Veto Power

THE television set has brought democracy into the American home according to a social psychologist.

This psychologist has made a study of homes with and without TV. He's concluded that letting Sis and Junior have a say-so is what programs the family will watch has had a far-reaching effect. It is far more than whether or not Papa watches the ball game or Sis sees and hears her favorite groaner belting out rock-and-roll songs.

From having a say-so in turning the television dial, kids have gone on to have a say-so in many other family decisions. That's what the professor says.

The big problem for parents is where will it all end? Just how democratic can a home become while Mama and Papa still carry enough authority to issue a flat "No," or a stern "Do I because I say so?"

USUALLY THERE'S A SOLID BLOC

THERE'S another problem, too.

In any family discussion kids tend to hold together. If Mam and Papa have more than two children they are sure to be out numbered in this family democracy.

Before our homes get any more democratic than they already are maybe we parents had better give a little thought to our future. We had better hold fast to the power of the veto when the young goes against us. Either that or we are going to find ourselves minority group in a family democracy where we get out-voted a every turn.

Of course, we could get rid of the TV set and try to go back to the good old days when Mama and Papa handed down the law. But it is probably too late for that.

James Roy Gilson Weds Illinois Girl In Church Nuptials

St. Thomas church in Crystal Lake, Ill., was the scene of a pretty ceremony August 26, when Mary Elizabeth Veeck, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Irvine W. Veeck, was united in marriage with James Roy Gilson, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Gilson, Warren.

Father Robert Devine read their nuptial vows at 10:30 a. m. in a white floral setting.

Escorted by her father, the bride was gownned in imported organdy, designed with high period neckline and scalloped sleeves in a basque waist, and embroidery detail in a redingote effect for the bouffant skirt. Her illusion veil fell to her fingertips from a plateau of double organdy, outlined with pearls and having floral motifs for the crown. Her pearl necklace was the bridegroom's gift and the hanky she carried once belonged to her maternal great-great-grandmother. White orchids, stephanotis and ivy sprays fashioned her bouquet.

Maid of honor was Judy Gilson, sister of the bridegroom; bridesmaids were Frances Phinister, Crystal Lake, and Mary Lou Bush, of Champaign. They were identically gownned in aqua iridescent taffeta, with matching headpieces of nylon tulle, ribbon and cord braid, holding brief veils. Their bouquets were half-cascades, Miss Gilson carrying deep pink carnations. Flower girl was Nancy Eller, for whose parents the bride was flower girl some years ago. She wore dotted swiss and organdy and had pink roses in her hair.

Arthur Schoeber, Midland, Mich., was best man; groomsmen were John Schimmel, Crystal Lake; Jesse Seaman, Ringwood; and the ushers were Robert O'Brien, of McHenry, and Walter Abrecht, of Union.

Following the ceremony, a buffet luncheon was served to 100 relatives and friends.

Here's a Halloween Idea That Teaches Self-Respect

BY MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

LAST Halloween was the best Jane and Bobby ever had. There's still time for you to plan one like it for your children.

They dressed up as a witch and cowboy. Then with blackened faces, they went out to ring neighbors' doorbells just like other "trick or treat" masqueraders. But there the likeness ended. Jane and Bobby begged no candy, cookies or fruit for themselves. Instead they begged pins, needles, thread, school supplies and children's clothing for needy families in faraway lands.

What they received they put in big paper bags bearing the red-and-black star of the American Friends. To givers, they presented an orange paper pumpkin upon which they'd written this verse in black crayon:

"When you've given pencils, thread and pins,
Just hang me on your door.
So prowling ghosts and goblins
Will ring your bell no more."

JANE and Bobby were serving as Friendly Beggars—a movement sponsored by the American Friends Service Committee, the internationally respected Quaker agency. Last year along with some 200,000 other children in 26 states, they collected more than 16 tons of necessities for overseas distribution by the committee.

A psychoanalyst friend has asked me to tell you about the Friendly Beggars. He said: "The moral satisfaction a child gets from knowing himself useful to others is sweeter than the taste of lollipops—and outlasts it, too. Parents who know this is true can present the Friendly Beggars idea to children so that they respond to it eagerly not only because of the fun it offers but because they recognize it as experience in self-respect."

YOU can get information on how the Friendly Beggars operate either on a small scale or a wider community basis by writing to the American Friends Service Committee at 20 South 12th Street, Philadelphia 7, Pa.

Parents who make a definite decision for the Friendly Beggars idea this Halloween will probably want the committee's 25-cent information packet called "It's Halloween."

In it, they're asked to rehearse youngsters in situations they may encounter as Friendly Beggars. One of the rehearsal questions asks, "What do you say if someone shouts crossly, 'Go away! I haven't anything to give you!'"

The answer taught the children is, "Please excuse me for bothering you. Maybe you'd like to have my paper pumpkin to hang on your door anyway."

Yes, the self-respect collected by young Friendly Beggars must outweigh all the materials they gather for others.

Girl Scout Council Getting County Fund-Raising Under Way October 8

Following a delicious luncheon served last evening in Trinity Memorial parish house, officers of Warren-Forest Girl Scout Council discussed with county workers plans for their annual financial drive.

This fund-raising campaign, which covers all of Warren and Forest counties exclusive of Warren borough, North Warren, Starbuck, and Pleasant township, will be officially conducted the week of October 8.

Each rural community has been assigned a quota in the over-all picture, the sum to be raised depending upon the number of registered Girl Scouts in that particular district and the entire campaign operating under the slogan "Girl Scouting For Every Girl Who Wants To Share in the Program".

Following last night's dinner, served under the direction of Mrs. A. J. Paucek, first vice president of the Council, and Mrs. Ralph Van Ord, camping chairman, the informal meeting was opened by Mrs. Wade Ransom of Youngville, Council president, and Mrs. John Kirk, also of Youngville, general chairman of the county campaign.

Ursula Johnson, executive director, showed a movie, "How To Ask For Money and Like It", emphasizing problems which might be encountered in making house to house solicitations.

Ford Scheduled to Oppose Sal Maglie in the Series Opener

By JOE REICHLER

Brooklyn, (P)—The well-rested New York Yankees ruled a stout 7½ to 5 choice to dethrone the champion Brooklyn Dodgers in the 1956 World Series which starts tomorrow at Ebbets Field but the National Leaguers had plenty of supporters, too.

Bobby Bragan, who gained stature as a manager even in Pittsburgh's three season-ending losses to Brooklyn, picked the Dodgers to win.

"All they have to do is play the kind of ball they played against us in those last three days," Bragan said. "Those guys were simply great."

A major league umpire, who will remain unidentified even though he will not work in the series, thought the Dodgers would win "because they are keyed up right now and have the momentum."

"I've been reading where the Dodgers are supposed to be tired," he said. "Tired of what? Winning? Capturing the pennant on the last day of the season, and the manner in which they did it, was the best pick-me-up they could have gotten."

Whitey Ford was certain to pitch for the Yankees in the opener but Manager Walter Alston was not expected to name the Brooklyn pitcher until after the work-out day.

It was believed that Sal Maglie, Brooklyn's hottest pitcher in the stretch, will get the call. Alston wants Maglie to open things up and late yesterday he had just about made up his mind to go with Sal but reserved judgment when the 39-year-old right-hander complained of miseries in his shoulder.

Ford, who hasn't pitched since he failed in his bid for a 20th victory last Wednesday, will have a full week's rest. The southpaw ace appeared undaunted by the task confronting him in a park called a left-handed pitcher's graveyard. In Whitey's only series appearance there, in 1951, he was knocked out in the first inning.

Redskins Now "Down" in Game Against Steelers

Washington, (P)—Coach Joe Kuharich snorts "baloney" to suggestions that his Washington Redskins were "down" when the Pittsburgh Steelers mauled them in a National Football League opener last Sunday.

Kuharich has a reputation for getting the most from his players. Witness the "Skins' 8-4 record last year with unspectacular personnel. But he has a strictly analytical view of Sunday's game which the Redskins lost 30-13, although a slight advance favorite and supposedly one of the East's top clubs.

Beaumont, Tex. (P)—A memorial to Babe Didrikson Zaharias who died Thursday in a Galveston hospital, is being planned here.

The Babe formerly lived here and called the city her home town. Her husband, George Zaharias, told Mayor Jimmie Cokinos yesterday he will bring all of the Babe's trophies, pictures, and mementoes to Beaumont if the city will provide a suitable place for them.

Cokinos said this would be done as soon as the space needed is known. One site under consideration is a lot next to the city library, he said.

Nashville the Horse to Beat In Fine Two-Year-Old Crop

BY HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Compounding the tragic shooting of William Woodward, Jr., is the fact that Nashville now is rated the best of an excellent and interesting two-year-old crop.

Young Woodward, you see, evinced no interest in racing while his illustrious banking father was the proprietor of famous Belair Stud. A good guess is that he would have peddled the whole shebang had not Nashville given early evidence of becoming the all-time money-winning champion.

In the winner's circle with Nashua, Sunny Jim Fitzsimmons and Eddie Arcaro, and meeting all the fine people in the thoroughbred business, the junior Woodward realized what he had missed. The young man got into racing with both feet, and making the story even sadder is the fact that Nashville is the first horse he ever bred. Luke Nashua, he is the son of Nasrullah, out of Bonnie Beryl, a neat filly raced by his pop.

WITH THE BELAIR dispersal through the Woodward's Hanover Bank in New York, John S. Kroese bought all the yearlings. Last January at Hialeah Park, that dedicated sportswoman, Mrs. Elizabeth Altman Whitney Person Lunn, paid $65,000 for Nashville.

During the spring meeting at Belmont Park, Jimmy Kilroe, racing secretary and official handicapper at all New York tracks and Santa Anita, considered the Wheatley Stable's Bold Ruler the most formidable juvenile he had ever seen at that time of the year.

But Nashville has not yet been extended, and Kilroe is now reserving judgment until after the six-and-a-half furlong Belmont Futurity down the much-maligned Widener chute, Oct. 13. The final two-year-old test is The Garden State at one mile and a sixteenth at Garden State Park, Oct. 27.

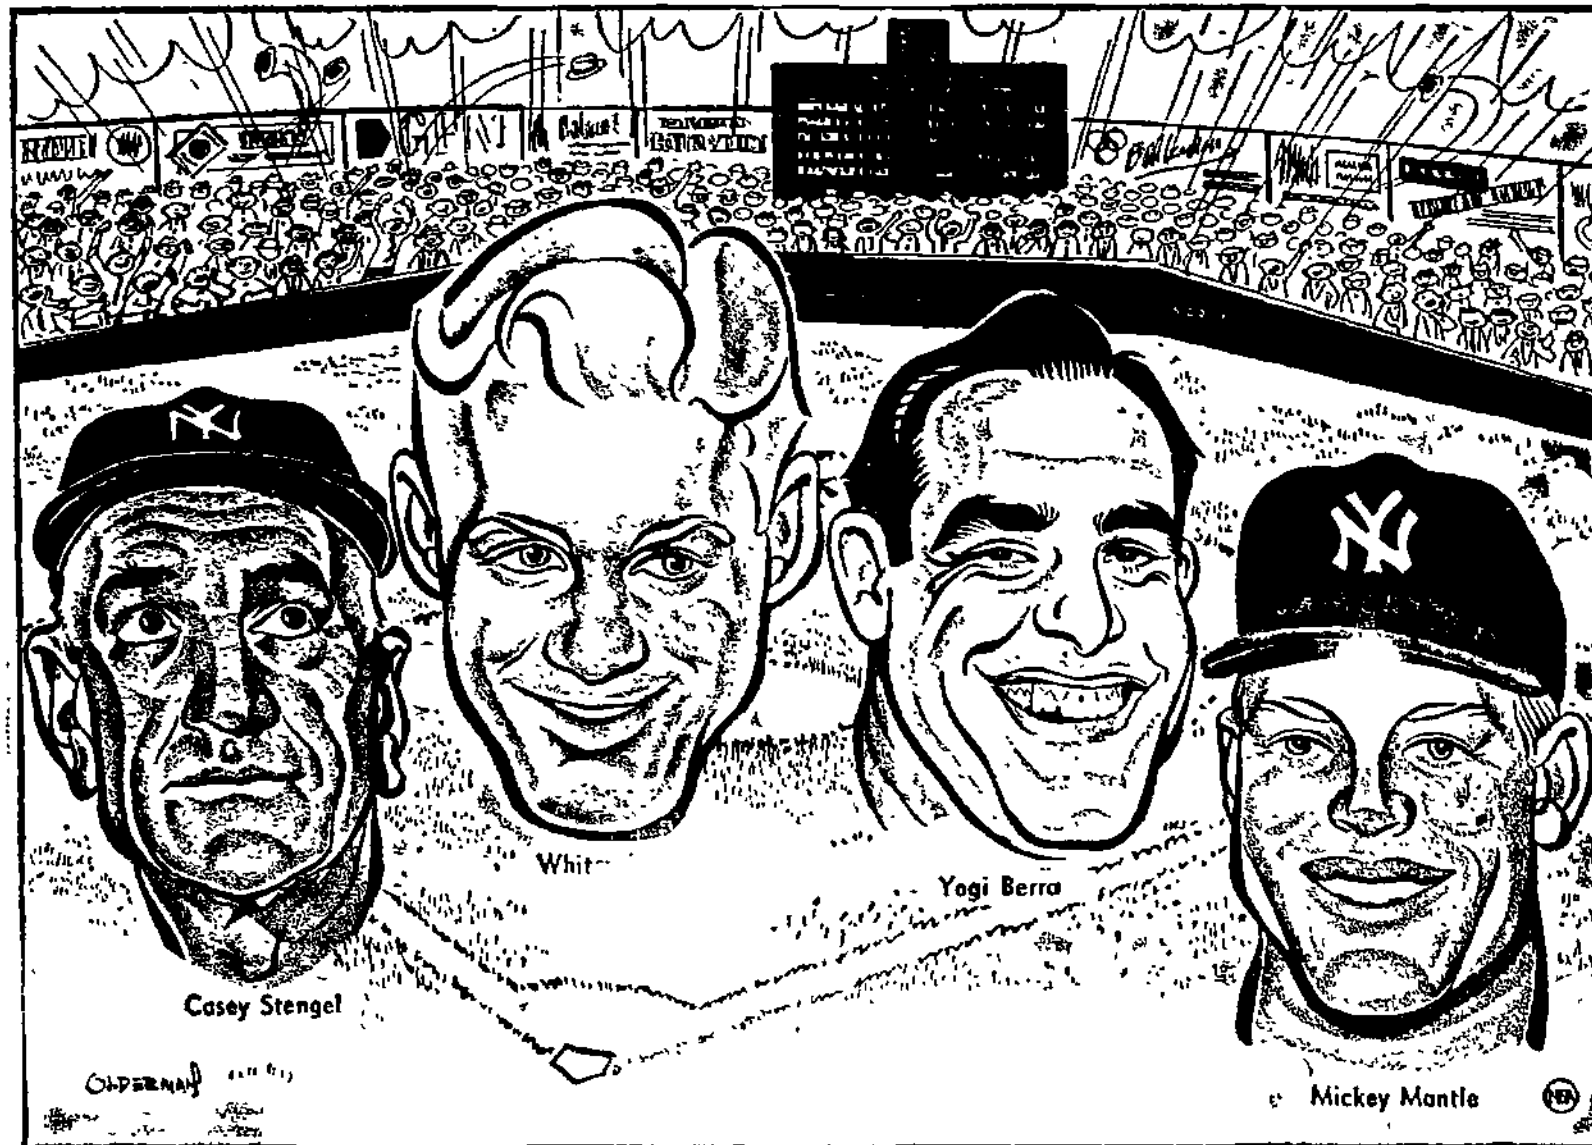

Nashville ran second to Mr. and Mrs. George Lewis' Lucky Mel at Hollywood Park, but racing people throw that one out. Nashville was just getting the feel of things. Lucky Mel bowed a tendon, is out for 1956, probably for good.

TAKING CHARGE at the 16th pole, Nashville beat Calumet Farm's highly regarded Iron Liege pulled up at six furlongs. Bold Ruler knocked a cap off a tooth leaving the gate and may have needed the race after injuring his back in June, and rapping himself into a filled hock in his stall, but Nashville played with this heretofore undefeated son of Nasrullah-Miss Disco and four others over a sloppy Widener course to prevail by a length and a quarter at six furlongs.

Other foremost two-year-olds are King Hairan, the 100 per cent Florida cracker; California Kid, stablemate of Swaps; Greek Gane, foaled in the Blue Grass, but raised in Alabama; and Prince Khaled, California young racing giant. Then there are Greentree's Cohoes and Cary C. Boshamer's Our Joy, winner over California Kid in Atlantic City's World Playground; and Vertex, which was running fastest at the end. Two more are Ben Lomond, bred and foaled in England; and Ogden Phipps' Bureaucracy; and a hide named Barbizon.

But at the moment, Lis Whitney appears to have the new big horse, as formidable as he is handsome. Nashville, of medium size and well built, is a blood bay "oh and ah" colt on the dark side. This one, on the heels of Nashua, would have kept the famous name of Woodward in racing for many more years.

Series New to Four Yankees

By FRANK ECK

AP Newsfeatures Sports Editor

The Yankees have 27 players eligible for the 1956 world Series but for only four will the Series be a new experience.

They are Billy Hunter, Maurice McDermott, Norm Siebern and George Wilson.

Hunter missed the possibility of making the 1955 classic because, while playing for Denver, he fractured his leg late in 1955. The injury precluded the Yankees from recalling him.

McDermott, a southpaw pitcher who has disappointed this year, was obtained in a deal with Washington last February.

Siebern alternated with Elston Howard in left field earlier in the year but because of an injury has not played too much lately. He is a rookie who was brought up from Denver on June 15. Like veteran Billy Martin, Siebern carries a National Defense Service designation, the reason the Yankees are permitted two players more than the 25-man limit in effect at World Series time.

Wilson was obtained from the Giants via Minneapolis on Aug. 22.

Enos Slaughter, who probably will open in left field, is seeing his first Series in a Yankee uniform. He was obtained from Kansas City on Aug. 25.

Slaughter played in the 1942 and 1946 World Series with the St. Louis Cardinals. In fact his dash from first base on Harry Walker's not-too-potent double decided the classic while Boston shortstop Johnny Pesky delayed the relay to home plate.

Indianapolis Manager to Talk With Greenberg

Cleveland, (P)—Kerby Farrell, 43-year-old Tennessee mountaineer who managed Indianapolis to a four-game sweep of the Little World Series, is going to talk with Hank Greenberg about the manager's job on the Cleveland Indians when the two get together in New York this week.

Farrell said he "wasn't going to attend the World Series until this thing came along. Then I decided I'd better see Hank and find out where I stand."

"I'd sure like to take a crack at that job. It's always been my ambition to manage a big league club."

A former first baseman with the Chicago White Sox, Farrell has won four pennants in 10 years with Cleveland minor league farm clubs—this year and 1954 with Indianapolis, 1951 at Reading, Pa., and 1947 at Spartansburg, S. C.

A.P. Poll Has Sooners In Top Spot This Week

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.
The Associated Press

With a string of 31 straight victories behind them and the end hardly in sight, Oklahoma's Sooners are the nation's No. 1 college football team until someone proves they're not.

The nation's sports writers and broadcasters voted Oklahoma into the No. 1 spot in The Associated Press ranking poll for the second week of the 1956 season. The Sooners also were the pre-season choice.

The seasonal debut of the Big Ten Conference teams, many rated high in the pre-season picks, had a distinct effect on this week's ratings. But Oklahoma, first on 60 of 97 ballots, still dominated. After whipping North Carolina 36-0 in the season opener, Oklahoma polled a total of 883 points on the basis of 10 for each first place vote, nine for second

Prospects for Wild Turkey as Reported by Game Commission

Extracts from a report just completed by Harvey A. Roberts, field biologist in charge of the Game Commission's wild turkey project, follow:

"The protection offered the wild turkey by the Game Commission, through the regulation of open seasons and bag limits has paid handsome dividends. On the basis of investigations in Virginia the statement has been made that 'The hunter is probably the most important single limiting factor on the wild turkey population.' If that is the case, just how does hunting pressure manifest itself here on our range in Pennsylvania? Through the use of such censusing techniques as hunting season, car-tag questionnaires and a limited banding program the Research Division is endeavoring to obtain answers.

"Our findings to date indicate that during the 1951 and the 1955 turkey season each automobile in the range contained two hunters, on the average. Applying this factor to all questionnaires distributed a composite of the areas sampled in the southeastern range during the first year of the investigation revealed that 1,078 hunters were afield. On the average there was approximately one hunter per 503.85 acres of range. In 1955 a total of 1,492 hunters were indirectly contacted through questionnaires, or approximately one hunter per 358.23 acres of turkey range. Similarly, in 1951 there were 274 hunters surveyed in a representative area of the north-central range. Here the ratio of hunters per acre of available range was 1 to 1,167.88 acres. This same area in 1955 contained 316 hunters, or roughly one sportsman for each 856.07 acres.

"Based on the aforementioned it is evident that increased hunting pressure was experienced in both regions. For the area under study in the north-central portion of the state this increase amounted to 15.32 per cent, while in the south-central area an increase of 38.40 per cent was noted. In the latter region the bulk of the pressure stemmed from general small game hunting. In the former the majority of the gunning was species specific, namely wild turkeys.

"Kill figures for the 'big woods' sections of the northern counties indicate that as few as 10 to 20 per cent of the turkeys are being harvested. On the other hand, apparently 50 to 60 per cent of the birds in the southcentral range are being killed. In the past five years the kill has been so low in parts of the northcentral region the turkeys have built up to phenomenal numbers in localized areas. On the opposite extreme the excessively heavy harvest in the southcentral range has evidently been the main reason why the turkeys cannot build to satisfactory levels."

Jamestown Sophs Defeat Jaycees By A Score of 19 to 0

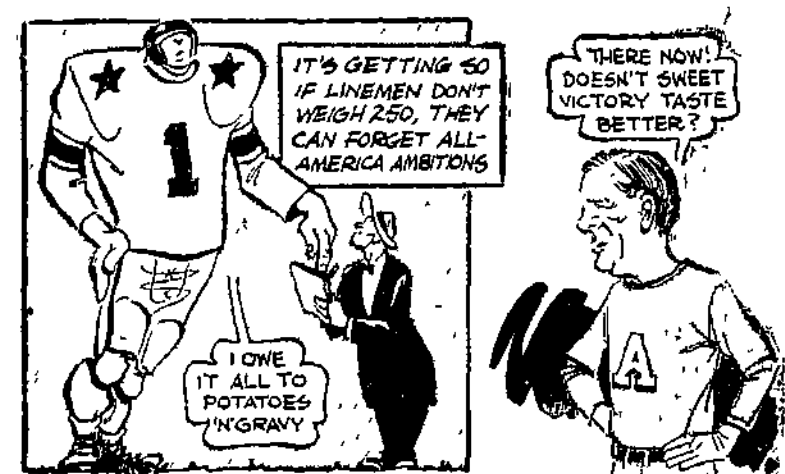

The Jamestown High School Sophs opened their 1956 gridiron season Monday in winning fashion when they tipped through the ranks of the Warren JV's to register a 19-0 shutout over the locals at Wm. Memorial Field.

Leading the three touchdown onslaught of the visitors was a 95-yard touchdown run by Ricky Hammond. Warren kicked off to Jamestown in the second period with Hammond taking the punt on his own five and scooting all the way for the tally.

Jamestown opened the scoring in the first chapter when a 20-yard pass play from quarterback Mike Foster hit end Moe Aiken for the TD. Jim Mason plunged for the point.

Knots Caprino iced the game for Jamestown late in the second period with the third and final score of the game, plunging off tackle for thirty yards and paydirt.

Attempting to establish how long an opportunity Mrs. Messerall had had to observe the suspect, the witness replied the car was moving no faster than she could walk. "And how fast can you walk?" asked Marks.

"Depends where I'm going," she answered.

Mrs. Messerall also told of the car parking down the road from her house and of her seeing it again at 7:30 p. m. that night, 8 that night, 7:15 in the morning and again at 8:50 a. m., after which it disappeared.

(Prosecution has maintained that this car, which answered the description of the stolen vehicle, was the one used by the bank robber during the actual stickup and then exchanged for his own car.)

Marks was able to bring out that Mrs. Messerall had at about 20 different times seen pictures brought to her house by the FBI and state troopers. She, as well as bank manager Cyphert had noted one person resembling the bank robber, a man named Graham, who later turned out to have been in jail at the time the stickup occurred. Marks was at his sarcastic best when toying with this fact.

Marks also tried to insinuate that Mrs. Messerall had made up her mind that Swartz was the guilty one, before she had seen him in a lineup in Franklin Troop substation, but was unsuccessful.

George Atkins testified he had particularly noticed the grey and dark Buick when it passed near the bulk plant because the back road was seldom used and even less so by strangers.

Atkins said he "Noticed the nose more than anything" and called the face "distinctive".

Atkins also testified that he had not actually described the man he had seen to anyone but recognized him from his profile when Swartz passed down the aisle at the hearing before Peace Justice Fred Berry on April 17.

Marks also tried to jog Atkins from his statement that he had seen the defendant parked facing the bank the day of the robbery any time from "five minutes before noon to three minutes after."

Emerson Campbell of Titusville stated he was on his way home for a noon meal the day before the stickup when he saw a "like green Plymouth 2-door sedan," parked in a peculiar place near a blacktop road. Campbell's statement that he had stopped his car and gazed at the Plymouth for "five minutes" brought forth some of the loudest talk at the trial as Marks asked incredulously if the witness had really looked at the car for five minutes. Kornreich objected at the defense shouting at his witness but Judge Flick said in his opinion the unruffled Campbell could handle himself.

The defendant, wearing a dark tweed sport jacket, sat slightly hunched with his elbows resting on the arms of his chair. His family, including father, mother, two sisters, bride of three months and mother-in-law, sat behind him in the second row.

Raymond Krug Cyphert, manager of Tidouette Branch of Warren National Bank and star witness in a role of the only person who definitely saw the bank robber, was the first to feel the sting of cross examination as Benjamin Marks discarded the sugary voice with which he had selected the jurors.

Picking at Cyphert's testimony, Marks was able to insinuate that the bank manager was not sure that the car he saw the day before the crime was the same one that he got the license plate of moments after the bandit had stuck the gun in his face and escaped with the loot.

In other testimony damaging to the prosecution, Attorney Marks was able to establish that Cyphert had been shown a picture of Swartz before he identified him in a police lineup and, while Cyphert would not admit it, Marks broadly intimated that his testimony at an April hearing about certain physical characteristics of the suspect was not borne out by Swartz's appearance.

After first establishing that the bank manager could not see a car from his desk, because of the particular structure of the building, Marks asked:

"Why did you notice this car in the parking lot near the bank?"

"We were expecting the examiners."

"You weren't afraid of the examiner, were you?"

"No."

Then, raising his voice, Marks continued: "Did you have to pick out a picture of a suspect to keep the insurance company from investigating you?"

"No."

"Isn't it a fact that you knew there was a $1,000 reward offered for the bandit?"

"No."

"You never knew until this minute that a $1,000 reward had been offered?"

"That is correct."

(Apparently the insurance company did offer a reward for a month or so following the robbery, a standard procedure.)

Getting back to the car observed by Cyphert the day before the robbery, Marks asked the witness if the road was heavily traveled (present Route 62 detour along Depot Street in Tidouette. Cyphert replied it was, "at times."

Asked if there was anyone in the car, the bank manager said yes, a lone man. Next, when Cyphert said he did not remember the license plate of the car the first time he had seen it because he had not written it down, Marks implied: "So you don't remember the license plate of this car because you haven't written it down and yet, on a well traveled road, you say a car of which you can remember neither year nor model is the same one on two consecutive days?"

After first substantiating that Cyphert had identified Swartz by picture (taken from the home of his mother, noted Marks in a loud voice) when state police gave him four or five on a Wednesday or Thursday before the bank manager pointed out Swartz in a police lineup at Franklin substation, the defense attorney harked back to Cyphert's testimony at a hearing before Peace Justice Berry on April 19.

Marks asked Cyphert if he had not called attention to a drooping mouth of the defendant. Cyphert nodded. Then Marks said, "Well, look at him now, do you see any drooping mouth?"

"Not at the present time," answered Cyphert.

"Well take a closer look and see if you can see any signs of plastic surgery or face lifting." The attorney waved Swartz to a position directly in front of the witness. "Now do you see any evidence of a drooping mouth?" "No," Cyphert had testified he noticed the drooping mouth when he saw Swartz in the police lineup at Franklin.

Then Marks pointed again to the baby-faced suspect and asked Cyphert to point out the "high cheek bones" he had mentioned at the hearing in April. Marks said he could not see them.

Then began the Adam's Apple incident. Marks recalled for Cyphert that in testimony the lawyer said the bank manager had given at the hearing, Cyphert said the suspect had a more pronounced Adam's Apple than Mark's son, Attorney Marc Marks, had at the hearing conducted by the younger Marks.

While the elder Marks' dwelled on this subject, his son (who has an extremely pronounced Adam's Apple) stood directly in front of the witness stand bobbing his apple up and down.

In a session marked by heated questioning, rumbles of objections from the prosecution, Marks insisted that Cyphert had said at the April hearing that the bandit who held him up had a more pronounced Adam's Apple. Cyphert denied the statement and said he had never said it, meanwhile describing the bandit as possessing a bull neck which had a tendency to redness. The suspect's ears were red during most of the three-and-one half hour afternoon session.

Early in the questioning, Marks pinned Cyphert down on the nature of the weapon thrust at him. Cyphert would say only that he saw a "round piece of metal with a hole in the end of it."

When he first took the stand, Cyphert described the holdup. He said he was sitting at his desk about five minutes after noon on August 18, 1955, when he heard someone come in the bank. Two other employees, Richard Yonek and Ann Cerick, were busy so he walked to the teller's window. The man, dressed in blue and white striped coveralls and cap, with dark glasses, motioned his glance downward.

There Cyphert said he saw the round metal with a hole in the end of it sticking from a brown bag. The man whispered "I want your cash." Cyphert said he reached into a drawer on his right for two or three daps. Then the gunman, said Cyphert, muttered, "I want your big stuff and motioned toward safe in back of room." The bank manager went back and brought out two packets of bills. Then the gunman said "Sit down in that chair" which had its back to the teller's window. Cyphert said about a minute passed before he stood up, looked out the window and got the license number of a passing car and called Warren State Troopers.

The money, according to testimony, was in small bills, all of them $50 denominations or under, except for seven $100 bills.

During the prosecution's questioning of Cyphert, District Attorney Kornreich asked Cyphert if he had ever seen since the man who held him up and if he was in the courtroom now. Cyphert, almost without looking at the suspect, waved his arm in the general direction of Swartz, who was sitting at the end of the defense table.

Cyphert stated that the picture in his mind's eye of Swartz' chin, mouth, high cheek bones and redness of neck all corresponded with the suspect's appearance. He later stated that the accused voice was similar to the whispered order Cyphert had heard the day of the robbery. Marks was able to establish that the first time the bank manager heard Swartz speak after the holdup, the tone was not quite as low.

Marks concluded his questioning of Cyphert by pointing out that he had testified under oath at both this trial and the hearing April 19 and he wanted to know if the bank manager wished to change any of his statements before he was excused. Cyphert said no.

Defense also introduced to Cyphert a William Antell, onetime writer for the Titusville Herald who talked to the bank manager the afternoon of the robbery. Cyphert, explaining that he talked to several reporters, said he did not remember Antell.

Holding a clipping from the Herald, Mark asked Cyphert if he had said the free hand of the bandit was wearing a light glove. Cyphert maintained he had always said the bandit wore a dark glove on his right hand.

Mentioning his extreme fright during the robbery, Marks asked Cyphert: "Was it in this condition that you formulated the certain characteristics which this person has?"

Cyphert said yes.

Second witness called by the prosecution was Gerald Huber of 8 Branch street, an employee of the parent Warren National Bank. He said he had been informed of the robbery minutes after it happened and he had gone to Tidouette for an audit which revealed $11,776 was missing.

After Huber's brief testimony, which was not cross-examined by the defense, Judge Flick admonished the jury not to discuss the case at home as their knowledge of it was a public trust. Then court recessed until 9 a. m. Tuesday morning.

Search Still On For Wayward Middleton Boy

Middletown (AP)—Another search was underway today for 15-year-old David Crider, who is missing for the second time in less than a month.

Clearfield Has a 12-Year-Old Robin Hood

Clearfield (AP)—Twelve-year-old Lee (call him Robin Hood) Hughes today is a big hero in his school.

Lee yesterday bagged a 150 pound buck on a hunting trip with his physician-father as Pennsylvania's bow and arrow season got underway.

The young archer, who turned 12 only last Thursday, killed the deer at a range of 20 yards. He used a 37-pound bow.

Father Suicides After Slaying Six Children

Clinton, N. C. (AP)—Officers early today discovered six children slain by gun and ax in their humble tenant farm home, and several hours later their hunted father's body was found in woods nearby, a gun beside him.

Sampson County Coroner Coleman Carter announced the finding of the body of the father, 34-year-old Rufus A. King.

Sheriff's deputies who went to the King home to serve a warrant charging assault on his wife found the children's bodies strewn about the blood-splattered home. One was in bed. Five were sprawled on the floor of the six-room frame dwelling.

Carter said a superficial examination showed that most of the children had been beaten with the butt of a rifle or with an ax.

Fumbling Queens Robber Is Freed of Charges

New York (AP)—A despairing, down-and-out lawyer who made a fumbling attempt to rob a bank is now free of all police charges.

The case against Edward J. Monkenmeyer was dropped yesterday in Queens Felony Court.

Monkenmeyer had a prosperous practice 30 years ago. But the 1929 crash wiped him out. He never got back on his feet.

Life grew increasingly grim and he sank to a desperate low last Aug. 31 when Monkenmeyer, 63, was evicted from his room.

That same day the homeless man walked into a Manufacturers Trust Co. branch in Forest Hills with a note demanding $1,000.

A guard seized him. Eventually he wound up in a state mental hospital.

Trial of Kidnapers Is Reset for November 5

Mineola, N. Y. (AP)—The trial of Angelo J. LaMarca on charges of kidnaping and murdering little Peter Weinberger has been reset for Nov. 5.

Nassau County Judge Cyril J. Brown fixed the new date yesterday after the Brooklyn Appellate Division of the State Supreme Court turned down LaMarca's plea for a change in the location of his trial.

The trial was scheduled to begin here yesterday.

LaMarca's attorneys maintained that he could not get a fair trial in Nassau, on Long Island, because of widespread publicity given the case.

MERCER FATALITY

Mercer (AP)—An auto and a tractor-trailer collided head-on on Route 19 nine miles north of here yesterday, killing Mrs. Samuel E. Howell, 66, of Hadley, driver of the car.

President Planning To Speak in New York City

Washington (AP)—President Eisenhower will make a late October campaign appearance in New York City.

Presidential press secretary James C. Hagerly announced this in the wake of a conference today between Eisenhower and Jacob K. Javits, the Republican candidate for the U. S. Senate from New York.

No details were available beyond the mere fact that the President's campaign plans now have been expanded to include a campaign appearance in the nation's largest city.

Eisenhower also is considering showing up at a U. N. meeting in New York. And tomorrow he is flying up to attend the first game of the World Series.

Eisenhower will motor to Ebbets Field in Brooklyn, from LaGuardia Field, along Flatbush Ave. and through congested areas. He will use the bubble-top White House limousine.

BULLETINS!

Harrisburg, (AP)—Pennsylvania's parents and teachers were called on today to support expansion of the State Public Instruction Department as a means of promoting educational program efficiency.

Blackpool, England, (AP)—Britain's Labor party today elected Aneurin Bevan as its treasurer, emphasizing the opposition party's sharp swing toward advocacy of more state ownership.

Port Said, Egypt, (AP)—The British cargo ship Hendrik went aground in the Suez Canal about 30 miles south of Port Said today, delaying passage of southbound ships through the vital waterway.

Tokyo, (AP)—A big U. S. KB29 gasoline tanker plane crash-landed and plunged from the runway in a rainstorm at nearby Yokota Air Base today, but the Air Force said none of the 11-man crew was seriously hurt.

Washington, (AP)—Strategists for Adlai E. Stevenson are planning a one-day saturation effort Oct. 12 aimed at getting what they call "the Democratic story" to "as many people as we can reach" in politically important California.

Paris, (AP)—The French National Assembly opens its fall session today in an atmosphere of mounting dissatisfaction with a foreign policy linked so closely to that of the United States. Debate on the Suez Canal controversy and the Algerian rebellion are expected to bring such criticism to the front when the Assembly tackles those issues later in the month.

Landstuhl, Germany, (AP)—A second U. S. Navy man died last night of injuries received in the premature explosion of a shell during anti-aircraft exercises aboard the U. S. Destroyer John R. Pierce. Seven of the 11 other injured men were reported in a critical condition.

Tax Reliefs for Small Business Are Planned

Boston (AP)—The Eisenhower administration will ask Congress to consider tax reliefs for the operations of small businesses, Presidential Assistant Sherman Adams said last night.

He told the Conference of Smaller Business Assn. that a report by the Cabinet Committee on Small Business recommended reduction of the corporate tax rate from 30 to 20 per cent on income up to $25,000.

He also told the conference that the Bureau of the Budget has begun a "comprehensive review" of the reports and statistics required of small business" with an eye toward "reducing the number of reports required."

Adams said more new businesses were established in 1955 than in any other year since 1948.

THE RED CROSS BLOOD PROGRAM

Mrs. Ross Davis, 103 North Main street, Youngsville, who is serving as recruiting chairman for the coming visit of the Buffalo Bloodmobile to her community, asks that cards mailed out to prospective donors be returned to her as early as possible.

The Blood Bank equipment will be in operation in the basement of Youngsville Methodist church next Wednesday, October 10, the hours to be from 11:00 a. m. until 5:00 p. m.

Youngsville workers are hopeful of topping their established quota of 150 pints and ask that all in the surrounding area schedule a visit promptly, or drop in during the day if they are unable to make plans in advance.

Continuing the series of special articles in explanation of the Red Cross Blood Program, Orrie Maasz, chapter board member and herself a nurse, answers the often-heard query, "Is There Any Danger To A Donor?"

It has been proved, she states, that most reactions are psychological rather than physical. If a donor continues to have a reaction after realizing this, he is not expected to give again.

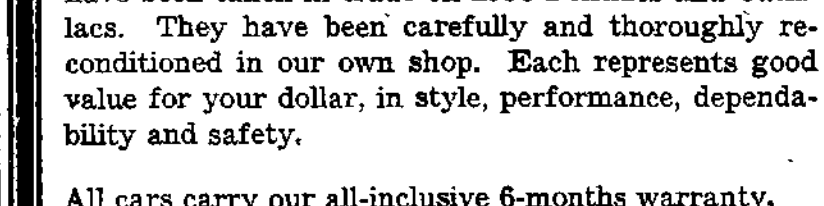

Most persons who do not give blood because of the fear element have not stopped to think if they were the ones receiving the blood the same procedure would be necessary; and the majority of these same persons would expect blood to be available to them or to their loved ones if it were needed.

It is frequently too late to hunt for honors when blood is needed for emergency, but an adequate supply in the Blood Bank will assure its availability when an emergency arises and as soon as it is needed.

"Do you care enough for humanity," Mrs. Maasz and her workers ask, "to give up about 30 minutes of your time and to endure the small discomfort of having a needle inserted in your arm in order to save a human life? If so, we will be seeing you at the Blood Bank next Wednesday."
